Honours for lollipop lady and conservationist

A LOLLIPOP lady from Tadley is one of two local people to have been awarded an MBE in the Queen's Birthday Honours.

Joyce Lambden, a 63-year-old great grandmother, has been helping children safely across Main Road, Tadley, for the last 19 years.

She said it was a "great surprise and a lovely honour".

"I will treasure it for the rest of my life," she added.

The award was made not only for her long years at the crossing, but also for her community work.

Mrs Lambden is vice-chairman of the women's section of the local Royal British Legion, a committee member of the Memorial Hall since 1947, and she also raises money for the Tadley Concert Brass.

She has five children, nine grandchildren, and two great grandchildren—with a third due any day now.

Last February, Mrs Lambden organised a petition in an effort to save Tadley Post Office, right next to her crossing, from closing.

She got around 600 signatures, which she sent off to Post Office Counters and local MPs, but was unable to stop the closure.

Mrs Lambden, who lives at The Green, Tadley, celebrated by having a meal out with her family on Saturday night.

"It's been overwhelming," she said.

And another person celebrating this weekend was Andrew Cleave, who was also made an MBE in the Birthday Honours.

But rather than throwing a party Mr Cleave was doing what he loves best—working as a conservationist at the Bramley Frith Study Centre in Bramley.

That said it was no surprise to learn his MBE was made for his services to environmental education.

A delighted Mr Cleave said: "It was a very pleasant surprise.

"I've still no idea though who nominated me."

Mr Cleave has worked at Bramley Frith for about seven and a half years.

He is jointly employed by Hampshire County Council and National Grid to run the centre.

Various types of conservation work go on there from woodland management to preserving dwindling mammal species like the dormouse.

The emphasis is placed on learning.

"We have a lot of school parties and university students who come here," Mr Cleave said.

"There's always a lot going on."

● Overwhelmed: lollipop lady Joyce Lambden MBE.

Council snub for lollipop lady, MBE

A LOLLIPOP lady awarded an MBE in the Queen's Birthday Honours has been snubbed by her own town council.

Joyce Lambden, a 63-year-old great-grandmother, has received congratulatory letters from the chairman of Hampshire County Council, the Mayor of Basingstoke and a Government minister.

But she has not heard one word from the council of the town, Tadley, where she has lived for more than 50 years.

She received the MBE not only for her 19 years as a lollipop lady, but also for her community work.

Joyce is vice-chairman of the women's section of the Royal British Legion and a committee member of the Memorial Hall since 1947.

In February she found time to organise a 600-signature petition in an (unsuccessful) effort to save Tadley Post Office from closing.

● Joyce: not surprised.

A week ago her third great-grandchild was born in Tadley. She has five children and nine grandchildren.

Chairman of Tadley council Ray Frost said: "Personally, I didn't think about it. It wasn't that important."

"There are lots of people in the town who do tremendous work week in, week out.

"What has she done?" he asked.

Joyce said: "I'm not surprised by the non-reaction of Tadley council.

"I have been overwhelmed by the response of local people, and the children, teachers and governors of Tadley Primary."

In his letter, on behalf of the borough of Basingstoke, Mayor John Greenwood congratulated Joyce and said that the MBE was "a fitting reward" for all the good work she had done over the years.

She also received congratulations from Sir Patrick Brown on behalf of the Transport Secretary.

Every day she is saluted by drivers in Main Road, Tadley, beeping their horns as they pass her crossing point.

Some have wound down their windows to shout out "well done lollipop lady."

Since the award she has appeared on local radio and television.

OPINION

A LOLLIPOP lady's MBE has made a lot of people happy. Her family, friends, neighbours, local school-children, teachers and many motorists who regularly use the busy road she patrols have shared some of her joy at receiving the award.

And why not? It is not every day that a small town like Tadley has cause to celebrate the honouring of one of its residents.

But the town's council has been strangely quiet, unlike others like Basingstoke and Hampshire councils which have sent notes of congratulation.

Council chairman Ray Frost said it didn't occur to him. Since he does so much good work himself, that's hardly surprising.

But he also says there are plenty of other people doing marvellous work in the community. True enough.

Yet the fact that there are other people worthy of an award, which is what he implies, should not mean that Joyce Lambden does not deserve hers.

The awards system has always been something of a lottery in that a lot of names go into the hat and only a smallish number are pulled out.

The council should be happy that a Tadley person got an award, that she and many others in the community have had something to smile about.

One of them may come out of the hat next year.

BASINGSTOKE GAZETTE 14/7/1995

Just couldn't believe it!

Sir—I couldn't believe, on reading the article published in last week's Basingstoke Gazette, that Tadley Town Council had not shown any recognition to the Tadley lollipop lady, Mrs Joyce Lambden, on recently being awarded the MBE in the Queen's Birthday Honours.

In my opinion Tadley Town Council should have been the first council to congratulate Mrs Lambden for this prestigious award, but I read that Mr Frost, Chairman of Tadley Council, did not think about it.

And why not Mr Frost?

I myself thought it made interesting reading for Tadley and took the trouble to send the newspaper cuttings of this lady's achievements to my sister who lives in Newmarket, Suffolk.

She does not even know Mrs Lambden.

Also I sent a second paper cutting to a very dear friend who used to live in Baughurst, who emigrated to Austria three years ago but still likes to receive local news.

Never mind Joyce, the hoots and toots from the car and lorry drivers who show recognition to you when you man the crossing at Tadley Hill, and the congratulations you have received from the young Tadley Primary School children, their parents, teachers and all other folk, make up for Tadley Council's lack of interest - well done.—Margaret Sparkes, Millers Road, Tadley, Basingstoke.

B.G. 24/7/1995

FROM MARGARET SPARKES (NEE SHATFORD)

Lack of feeling

Sir.—I welcome your criticism of councillor Ray Frost, chairman of Tadley council, for his lack of interest in the award of an OBE to Joyce Lambden.

His remarks show a lack of feeling for the people of Tadley. Surely the award of an OBE or any other honour to a local person merits some sign of appreciation.

To say that there are many others who give valuable service to the community, (himself implied presumably), though very true, is surely beside the point.

To imply that he didn't know what Joyce Lambden had done shows that councillor Frost is well and truly out of touch with the people of Tadley he is supposed to be serving.—J Donald, Bowmonts Road, Tadley.

Lollipop lady meets The Queen

GREAT grandmother, lollipop lady and pride of Tadley, Joyce Lambden, received her MBE from The Queen at Buckingham Palace this week.

Proudly displaying her award outside the Palace on Tuesday, Joyce said she was "absolutely thrilled" to have to have met The Queen.

"She was very warm and friendly, and she asked me how long I had been a lollipop lady," said an excited Joyce, as some foreign tourists tried to take a few snaps of our VIP.

"When I told her that I had been doing it for almost 20 years, she said I was doing a very good and worthwhile job.

"Her Majesty also asked me where I lived. When I said Tadley, she replied, 'where is that?'"

Joyce added: "The Queen wore a lovely mauve-blue dress with a blue belt.

"She had a jolly chat to

On arrival at the Palace, in a posh Mercedes hired for the occasion, Joyce, accompanied by her husband Ray and two of her sons, Michael and Stephen, was shown into the Picture Gallery.

From there they went into the Palace Ballroom where the Queen presented Joyce with her MBE.

"It was very exciting, especially as this was my very first visit to Buckingham Palace," Joyce said.

After around three hours at The Sovereign's residence, Joyce and her family were on their way back to Tadley—there were school children to escort across a busy main road the next morning.

Joyce, 64, who has five children, nine grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, has lived in Tadley for 50 years.

Besides being a lollipop lady, of almost 20 years' standing, she is vice-chairman of the women's section of the Royal British Legion and she has been a committee member of the local Memorial Hall since 1947.

In February, she also found time to organise a 600-signature petition to save Tadley Post Office from closing, unsuccessfully as it turned out.

Joyce has been "overwhelmed" by the response she has had from local people since her award was announced in The Queen's Birthday Honours in June.

She is frequently saluted by drivers beeping their horns as they pass her crossing point in Main Road, Tadley.

Lollipop lady's campaign ends with council U-turn

A BATTLING former lollipop lady has won a county council U-turn that means the children of Tadley Primary School will not be left without a school crossing patrol after all.

Earlier this month, the council said it would not advertise for a replacement for Joyce Lambden, who had retired from being the school's lollipop lady after 28 years.

It said the pupils, aged between four-and-a-half and 11, could negotiate the pelican crossing on busy Main Road without help from a lollipop patroller.

However, after a campaign by an angry Mrs Lambden, officers had a change of heart and have now revealed that they will advertise the vacant position after all.

Mrs Lambden, 73, of The Green, Tadley, had written to Hampshire County Council saying she was "absolutely dumbfounded" that she was not to be replaced.

She wrote: "This is one of the most dangerous crossings in Hampshire," and urged: "Don't forget these are children's lives you are dicing with."

She also sent them the results of a traffic survey she had conducted, showing that 665 vehicles travelled along the road between 8.30am and 9.15am on one weekday.

As a result of her letter, the council undertook its own assessment of vehicles and pedestrians using the crossing - and decided it should have a lollipop person after all.

Richard White, council supervisor for school crossing patrols, said: "It's not our policy to provide school crossing patrollers at pelican crossings but, in light of a recent survey carried out because of Joyce's concerns, we have decided we will advertise the position."

Welcoming the news, Mrs Lambden said: "It's fantastic - I was so worried they weren't going to get anyone. The last 27-and-a-half years have been accident free and I want it to stay like that."

Relieved parent Clive Green, of Pelican Road, Pamber End, has a seven-year-old son Alex at the school who uses the crossing every day.

He said: "Everybody is delighted the council has had a change of heart. Parents have seen cars jump red lights and all sorts of things over the years, and the thought of a six-year-old running into the traffic is horrific."

Borough and town councillor David Leeks said: "It's wonderful news. It's a great Christmas present to the kids and a great start to the new year if they can get someone in soon."

Lollipop MBE retires at last!

County allays Joyce's fears - her 'beat' will be covered

A TADLEY Lollipop lady will be able to enjoy her retirement knowing she will be replaced, after voicing her fears to Hampshire County Council.

Joyce Lambden was the first lollipop lady ever to receive the MBE and has been helping children cross the road to Tadley Community Primary School for more than 27 years.

When she learned the council was not planning to replace her when she retired she wrote to them explaining her fears for children crossing the busy A340.

Now, the council has written back confirming that they will find a replacement to continue Joyce's good work. Joyce, known as lollipop, said: "It worried me because I thought I've done 27 1/2 years and never had an accident happen while I've been there. What worries me most is the emergency services, you've got to give way to them but if the green man is showing for the child they think it's ok to cross.

"I really feel much happier now. It would have broken my heart to think that for 27 years I watched over the kids and there wasn't going to be anyone to do it any more."

And the letter telling Joyce a replacement would be sought was perfectly timed, dropping onto the mat at Joyce's home of 52 years in The Green, on the very day of her retirement.

Joyce says whoever gets the job will find a huge reward in knowing they help children get to school safely every day.

She said: "It's a job that's very rewarding. To see children's faces and know they're safe must be a reward in itself.

"I've got mums coming now, that were my little ones. Now they're bringing their children to school and it's lovely."

The school is a huge part of the Lambden family tradition, Joyce herself having attended from 1936-45, and her children having followed in her footsteps.

Her living room is full of chocolates, flowers and trinkets from the children she has helped over the years and Joyce says she will miss being part of the school.

But with two grandchildren and two great grandchildren among the current pupils it is unlikely she will be left out of the loop. Over the years Joyce has helped thousands of children cross the roads and one of them recently returned to teach there.

A giant card signed by the children takes pride of place in a cabinet at Joyce's, along with her lollipop hat and coat. She said: "I've said I'll keep hold of it so when they get someone if they're ever sick or have to go to a funeral, they can get cover."

Obituary

Raymond Lambden 1922-2007

A FORMER Tadley town councillor and D-Day hero has died aged 84.

Raymond Louis Lambden, a town councillor for 24 years, died earlier this month after a long illness.

In the Second World War, Mr Lambden served in the Home Guard before being called up in 1942 to the Royal Berkshire Regiment.

His first action was going ashore early on D-Day morning on Juno Beach at Bernieres-sur-Mer in Normandy, where he lost many comrades in the battle to push back the German defenders.

Later that day, Mr Lambden earned a mention in dispatches for trying to save the life of his severely injured Warrant Officer while under enemy fire.

Before his death, Mr Lambden returned to Normandy on several occasions, the last being the 60th anniversary of the landings in 2004.

After leaving the army in 1946, Mr Lambden went to work for Thornycroft in Basingstoke, where he met his wife Joyce. The couple were married for 57 years.

He then worked at the Atomic Weapons Establishment in Aldermaston, where he remained until retirement in 1987.

Mr Lambden, of The Green, was born in Worting in 1922. When he was six years old his family returned to their roots in Tadley, where Mr Lambden attended Tadley School, now known as Tadley Community Primary School.

Continuing with a family tradition, he joined the local brass band, which at times during the late 1900s had as many as seven members from the Lambden family at once.

Mr Lambden's son Michael said: "Although raising and looking after his family took up a lot of his time he still found time to put something back into the community."

"He served as a Tadley councillor for 24 years in two separate stints, was a governor at Tadley School, raised money along with his wife for various charities and also found time to indulge in his lifelong passion for brass bands by playing for Tadley Silver Band and for Tadley Concert Brass.

"In recognition of his contribution and service, he was made honorary vice-president of both bands.

"It pleased him that the brass band family tradition has been maintained with the baton being taken up by his youngest son Andrew and Andrew's daughter Rebekah, who play for Tadley Concert Brass.

"He had a full and varied life. His legacy and memory will live on through his wife, children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren."

Mr Lambden's funeral took place in St Paul's Church, The Green, on Tuesday May 8.
