DEAR MRS STANLEY

FAR OUT! I would never have dreamed

I could have uncovered anything like this. If I'd have spent a life time at it I could never have put together anything like this. I've put together a little tree of my section of the family but it's a bit patchy because I've never really thought about it scientifically before. I've sent a copy of my tree to my mother to fill in the details and will forward a copy of it to you when it's completed. It will probably take a long time as her memory isn't very reliable and her communication systems seem to revolve around meetings with dumpy little ladies at Nantbury market on Thursdays. However, I will give you her address and telephone number in case you feel like running the gamut of confusion in order to was 70 in 1959 when we moved at the age of 70 in 1959 and was given a house in the village in which to retire. Unfortunately, his wife died at this time so he moved to the house alone. At this time the Vicar was looking for someone to take charge of the cemetery and keep it tidy, and he worked there for 10 years. Never before or since has the cemetery looked so lovely! While doing this job he came into contact with many people who were bereaved and often unhappy.

American soldier's return trip

AN AMERICAN stationed in Basingstoke as a young soldier in 1944 has returned for a nostalgic visit with his new wife.

During the trip, 85-year-old Warren Hofman and his wife June met up with Joyce Appleton, now 65. Mr Hofman became friends with Joyce and her mother during the Second World War, and has stayed in touch for more than 60 years.

Mr Hofman, from Wisconsin, met Mrs Appleton, who was then only four, and her mother when he was billeted in a converted mushroom farm in 1944, in an area that he believes is now part of Popley.

He stayed in touch with the family through the last months of the war and, after returning to America in 1945, sent care packages during rationing.

Mrs Appleton said: "My mother kept in touch with Warren and I carried on the tradition because he was very good to us during the war."

After marrying his second wife, June, 85, on August 20 this year, Mr Hofman chose to spend his honeymoon in England. He said: "I love this country and it is fascinating to come back to Basingstoke."
